

ABSTRACT

1 A gas inlet manifold for a plasma chamber having a perforated gas distribution plate suspended
2 by flexible side walls. The flexible suspension minimizes mechanical stress due to thermal expansion
3 of the gas distribution plate. In another aspect, the suspension provides thermal isolation between the 4 gas distribution plate and other components of the chamber.